This is a University Ranking for a selected group of European universities. Find an interesting place to study in Europe and for doing your master's or doctoral degree in one of the subjects listed!

For seven different subjects a group of about 60 European universities were selected by their results in research and internationalisation indicators. This selected group of universities is called the "Excellence Group" of the respective subject. For these Excellence Groups, an institutional survey as well as a student survey was conducted. For outstanding results in any one indicator, a "star" was awarded.
